Facebook

Barb requested assurance that the information on Facebook was protected, especially for any copyright issues. The committee was assured that it is a ‘closed book’.

Barb also made comment that those people putting comment and information on the site need to be aware of their language and topics selected.

Hires: no additional hires to last month’s meeting

Late correspondence received by Ian via Camilla Harmston re Hires:

The conflict of hires and general theatre use for performances and rehearsals needs to be prioritised. A hirer has the priority for the areas they are hiring, this means no-one enters those areas whilst the hire is in progress. A courteous and common sense approach to noise interference from backstage, especially of the Hatea Room is also required. The kitchen is out of bounds and cast / crew and heads of departments need to make provision before a hire starts to arrange for teas / coffee / milk / mugs etc are available in a temporary green room during rehearsals. The workshop needs to be cleared and made safe and will be the green room once the performances start.

SHOWS

Present Show – The Addams Family

Production Report – October

Rehearsals are increased and lengthened as we make the final push towards production week. The scheduled sitzprobe was cancelled due to our Musical Directors ill health, however in his absence Sarah ran a great band rehearsal and when Sean was back we held a full run through with the cast and orchestra that went very well. The band sound amazing and we are blessed to have such talented musicians that continue to support our shows.

Set and set painting are coming along incredibly well. Again, Darryn, Brendan and Steph are doing an exemplary job and the results are stunning. They’re looking at a final push over Labour Weekend to get things completed, so that Tayla and the lighting team can get everything underway.

Pamela and her team of seamstresses are doing a great job of playing catch up with the costumes, and the results are as per usual of a great quality.

Barbie came and watched rehearsal and noted that the cast were missing ‘play’ props, and has graciously offered to come and grab a few things for the cast. Our person in charge of props has proved to be very creative yet somewhat difficult to work with, and has constant complaints. I have discovered that the Production Management role in this show is more ego/person management than actual show management sometimes!

I would welcome the executive members to come and sit in on a rehearsal at any time –
